

Student assistant for illustration and design in science communication wanted

For the LOEWE research center emergenCITY we are looking for a student assistant to illustrate a comic and a scrollytelling story (working hours by arrangement). Long-term collaboration beyond the projects is also desired.

Research Center emergenCITY

The goal of emergenCITY is to research foundations, methods and solutions for future resilient digital cities. The team consists of 29 professors in the fields of computer science, electrical engineering and information technology, mechanical engineering, civil and environmental engineering, political science, history, law, economics and architecture. With science communication, we want to make the research accessible to a broad public.

Tasks:

- Illustration of a comic
- Illustration of a scrollytelling story
- Other illustration and design activities by arrangement.

Requirements:

- skills in illustration and comic design
- creativity, development and realization of own ideas within the framework of the requirements
- knowledge of design and illustration programs
- organizational skills
- reliability and time flexibility

We offer:

- diverse activities
- pleasant working atmosphere in an interdisciplinary team
- insight into the public relations work of collaborative research projects
- flexible working hours
- possibility of longer-term employment

Please apply with a short cover letter, CV, a recent performance review and three samples of your previous work by 29.08.2022 via email to: press@emergencity.de

For questions about the job, contact: Svenja Andresen - press@emergencity.de - 0049 6151 16-25489.